ANTIOCH MAN, DESPONDENT, IS GAS SUICIDE

Ben Slattland Is Found Lifeless in House on Depot Street

Choosing an exit from life as dreadful as it was certain, Ben Slattland, 55, Antioch, was found dead in the T. G. Rhodes house on Depot street, Saturday morning at 10:30, a gas suicide.

The last time that the victim was seen alive was Friday night when a neighbor saw him entering the house, where he had made his home for several months. He was not discovered until Saturday morning when Mr. Rhodes, who drove up to the house with a load of furniture, opened the front door and found the room filled with the deadly gas and Slattland lying on the floor before him lifeless. Undertaker Lee Strang was notified and the body was removed to the local morgue.

Believed To Have Been Despondent

It is thought that his act may be attributed to despondency following a who was a native of Norway, has period of heavy drinking. Slattland, made his home in Antioch for the last 15 or 20 years, depending upon money received from doing odd jobs and the generosity of the Antioch people for his maintenance. Those for whom he worked say that he was an honest and reliable laborer when he was not under the influence of liquor.

Prior to the time that he took up residence in the house where he committed suicide, he slept in the basement of the Rhodes Shoe store and in the "Blackstone Hotel" in the rear of the Keulman building on Main street. Authorities have been unsuccessful in their attempt to locate any relatives, although he had been heard to say that he had two brothers living.

Coroner's Jury Declares Suicide

The coroner's jury, at an inquest held here Sunday, returned a verdict of suicide by means of illuminating gas.

Slattland had no personal effects in his pockets, a penny being all that authorities found.

Burial took place today in Home

Oak cemetery, southeast of Antioch.

CORPORATION FEES COLLECTIONS WILL EXCEED 4,000,000

Increase This Year Will Be Half Million, William J. Stratton Says

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 14—Fees collected by the corporation department of his office will exceed $4,000,000 in 1930, Secretary of State William J. Stratton announced today.

In the first ten months of this year the collections of the department aggregated $3,877,456.39 as compared with $3,394,090.44 collected in the period of 1928. This is an increase of $43,395.95 for the ten months and the increase for the entire year probably will exceed $500,000.

The report of the corporation department shows that 5,132 domestic corporations were licensed to do business in this state in the first ten months of 1928. This compares with 5,621 licensed in the same period of this year, an increase of 889. On the same comparative basis the foreign corporation increased 195.

The collections of this department go into the general revenue fund in the state treasury and reduce the amount that must be raised by direct taxation of property to carry on the business of the state government.

The automobile department of the secretary of state's office, the greatest money raiser of all state departments will turn approximately $18,000,000 into the state treasury this year. Inasmuch as the automobile license law provides all of this money shall go into the road fund, the annual collections of this department alone would pay for 600 miles of hard surfaced pavement at a cost of $30,000 a mile.

Gus Leider, Evanston, visited at the home of Miss Elsie Dunford Sunday afternoon.

PRESIDENT ENROLLS IN RED CROSS

President Hoover, who is also president of the American Red Cross, enrolls in the annual Roll Call of the society, which occurs from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28.

GREATEST STEP TAKEN TO END TRAFFIC JAMS

Chicago Area To Build Three Elevated Grade Separations Soon

By E. E. Duffy

Something has taken place in the highway world which definitely indicates that the automobile is to be recognized as a twentieth century machine.

The Lincoln Park district of Chicago has just adopted a bond issue which will provide for the building of two parallel 45-foot grade pavements on the outer drive to the north. In simple terms, a grade separation is a bridge over another thoroughfare.

This step is in itself a matter-of-fact statement, but to those who realize what that means in terms of lessened automobile congestion and injury and death, it is one of the most important highway actions yet taken.

This constitutes an ambitious undertaking, but the automobile in the city constitutes a gigantic problem, a problem which requires an unlimited amount of nerve to solve. Cities all over the country are facing the same dilemma—if such it can be called for there is only one thing to be done—attack the ailment as Chicago.

The grade separation has already proved its worth in Chicago, Wayne county, Michigan and elsewhere. Engineers have made estimates of the time wasted at busy intersections and have calculated that even in assigning a small value to motorists' time grade separations will shortly pay for themselves. Their figures, of course, do not estimate the cost of deaths and injuries and injuries and smashed cars.

CITY BRIEFS

Mrs. Carrie Wilton, who was injured in an auto accident on Main street two weeks ago, is recovering and expects to leave the Victory Memorial hospital, Waukegan, Friday or Saturday.

About 30 mothers took advantage of visiting day at the local grade school Tuesday.

Mrs. George Schlosser hurt her hand quite severely when she caught it in the clothes wringer Monday.

The F. R. Merrill home on Lake street has been quarantined for scarlet fever, Arthur, 11, being the victim.

L. B. Griece went to Chicago today. Mr. and Mrs. Archie Maplethorpe went to Chicago Monday; they heard Vice-president Curtis speak at Soldiers' Field and attended the dedication of the Edward Hines, Jr., hospital.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Ketelhut received word that they have arrived in San Benito, Texas, after a very delightful trip. Roads were good and the weather is fine and warm, they say.

Mrs. Fern Lux and S. E. Pollock filled Eastern Star stations at Lake Forest Monday night.

COAL GAS CAUSES DEATH OF SECOND LAKE VILLA VICTIM

Walter Atwell, 83, Dies At Son's Home Following Relapse

Failing to recover from the effects of the deadly coal gas which caused the death of his wife and rendered him unconscious Wednesday morning at their home in Lake Villa, Walter Atwell, 83, died at the home of his son in Lake Villa Sunday.

Immediately following the discovery of the couple by their son, Henry Atwell, the aged man was removed to the home of his son, where medical science was administered. Although Dr. W. W. Warriner was not able to bring him back to consciousness until late Thursday, indications led him to believe that Atwell would recover following a long period of recuperation.

Thought To Be Recovering
With his condition showing steady improvement and his constitution standing him in good stead in his fight for life, hopes for his recovery were intensified by signs of improvement, until Friday, when he again lapsed back into a partial swoon from which he was never fully released until his death.

Mr. Atwell is survived by four sons, Fred, Henry, William, and Albert, of this vicinity, and a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Wilson, of Zenda, Wis., by his first wife.

An inquest into the death of the aged man was held at the Strang Undertaking parlors Monday afternoon, the coroner's jury returning a verdict of death caused by gas, which escaped from a coal stove in the home.

The funeral services were held from Lake Villa M. E. church Tuesday afternoon.

Waukegan Man Is Robbed of $100

Seized by two men as he passed a driveway on Jackson st., Waukegan at midnight Tuesday, Edward L. Salmon, proprietor of a store at 1220 Washington street, Waukegan, was hustled across the street into the dark and robbed of $100 in bills and several dollars in change, receipts from the store.

The men were evidently familiar with Salmon's habits, since few pedestrians are abroad in the neighborhood at that hour and the bandits apparently expected their victim to pass their hiding place. Leaping out from the driveway, they ordered him across the street where the shadows were heavier, and after stripping him of his money, bade him walk to the nearby corner of Clayton and Jackson streets, where they warned him not to make a movement or they would blow his head off.

BIRTHS

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Normau in the Victory Memorial hospital Saturday afternoon.

Slapped a Critic

This is Lillian Foster, American actress, who slapped Hannen Swaffer, English dramatic critic, in the lunch room of a London hotel, because he had said unkind things about her performance and also because he has a habit of attacking everything American.

Mandell Is Defeated

Jimmy McLarnin of California who won a clean-cut decision over Light-weight Champion Sammy Mandell at the Chicago stadium. McLarnin proved himself a two-fisted fighter, reminding one of the days of McGovern and Ketchel. Mandell's title was not at stake. Both were overweight.

CORONER'S JURY LAUDS DEGROFF FOR BRAVERY

Inquest Into Death of Train Robber Held Here Monday

Death caused by a gunshot fired by Special Agent A. W. DeGroff, of the Soo Line, was the verdict returned by the coroner's jury at an inquest held here Monday into the death of Arthur Denney, 32, of Chicago, who was shot at Lake Villa two weeks ago in connection with the freight train robbery there. Self defense was stated as justification for the act and Special Agent DeGroff was commended by the jury for his bravery.

Arthur Reid, believed to be Denny's injured accomplice, who has been discharged from the Highland Park hospital, was present at the inquest. Although he refused to make any statements concerning the holdup, he told authorities that he was in Lake Villa that night. Following the official inquiry Monday, Reid was taken to the county jail, where he will be held pending further investigation.

After Reid has served a sentence for the Soo Line offense, he will be turned over to authorities at the Michigan State penitentiary at Jackson, where he is wanted for escaping a two year term there.

The ex-convict has told Sheriff Doo little that he wants to go anywhere but back to Joliet where he was once paroled for "squealing" on his fellow prisoners when they were planning a jailbreak. He fears the prisoners there will kill him if he goes back.

ANNUAL POULTRY SHOW DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Finest of Feathery Tribe to Be Seen Here on Dec. 19, 20, 21

In competition with all previous exhibits, what promises to be the most extensive and the best that Antioch has had will be the three day show of prize standard bred poultry from the Central States Metropolitan area, December 19, 20, and 21. Since the fact that this show has outgrown its local characteristics was evidenced last year when the unusually large number of Wisconsin exhibitors came to Antioch, entries from the entire region between Chicago and Milwaukee are expected.

Is Strongly Supported
The show is supported not only by local business men and farmers, but also by business interests from this whole territory. Among those which have contributed are, the Samuel Insull interests, North Shore railroad, Soo Line, National Tea company, Atlantic and Pacific company, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, and Chris Paschen, and some state aid for the boys' and girls' 4-H club exhibits has also been secured. It is expected that this year's demonstration will attract thousands to Antioch during the holiday season. Booth reservations will be arranged by Secretary C. L. Kuttell.

Contest in 1924

The 1924 primaries brought another contest with Col. Smith receiving 10,703 and his nearest opponent, Attorney Herman Litchfield, 3,828.

There is little opportunity to show the comparative strength of Congressmen Chindblom and Col. Smith in Lake county. In the election Nov. 6, a year ago the prosecutor, running for his third term and unopposed, drew 25,776. At the same time the congressman, opposed by the Democrat Weber, received 24,685 with Weber getting 8,962 while Gov. Al Smith was drawing more than 12,000 votes.

POULTRY MEETING TO BE HELD AT HIGH SCHOOL

The sixth annual meeting of the members of the Poultry association will be held at the local high school Monday, Nov. 25. Motion pictures on the poultry industry will be shown and a business meeting will follow.

GAME VIOLATIONS

FEW THIS WEEK
One Cicero man and three Chicago sportsmen were the only victims of arrest in this city for game violations, since the pheasant season opened Sunday, according to W. H. Regan and Sam Tarbell, justices.

Joe Evers, accompanied by his sister, Harriet, of Chicago, and Bob Wilson drove to the home of his parents, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Evers, Danville, over the weekend. They attended the Illinois army game Saturday.

Chester Wagner and Erlane Fry and friend visited at the home of Miss Elsie Dunford, Channel lake, Sunday.

Mrs. Maude Sabin is spending this week in Chicago.

Former Fox Lake Resident Dies

Failing to recover from a skull operation performed in an eastern hospital this summer, Frank Carlson, Jr., 40, former resident of Fox Lake, died at his Chicago home Friday.

The deceased, whose father operated the Columbia club at Fox Lake for several years, was estimator for Sears Roebuck and Co. at the time of his death.

He is survived by a wife, two sisters, and two brothers.

Burial took place at Hillside cemetery, Antioch, Sunday.

THE COMMUNITY YARDSTICK

The acid test of any community is—"Is it a good place in which to bring up a child?" Unless this question can be answered in the affirmative then no matter what other attributes of success it may have, the community is destined to fail to become an outstanding community.

We must remember the babies of today are the men and women of tomorrow—those who will carry on when we will have relinquished the tasks, both great and small.

Other nations are making the question of birth and rearing children a paramount issue. If our nation is to maintain its leadership in years to come as is the case at the present time, every community in this land must rigidly apply the acid test—"Do We Give Our Babies a Fair Chance to Live?"

If our rating is above the average as shown in the Community Yardstick Page elsewhere in this issue, wherein our business and professional men have made this information possible, well and good—let's keep it there; if it is not up to the standard, by all means we should let no time in taking steps to put it there.

We must consistently bear in mind the three essential factors in determining what we are doing for child life in this community:

1. Do we give our babies a chance to live?
2. Do our children receive an education to fit them for life?

3. Do our incomes provide the proper standard of living?

On first reading, they seem to be very simple questions. But the more carefully they are studied, the more thoroughly they are applied to our own community, the greater their importance becomes. These three simple tests bring out both the strength and the weakness of any community's interests in the children.

For Antioch to succeed and prosper, we should strive to become an ideal community in which to bring up children. We have made progress, we have adopted measures that have a great bearing upon improved conditions for our children. But we are still a long way from our goal. We have not yet achieved the ideal.

Let us measure our progress with the Community Yardstick and then chart our course. Let us strive to make Antioch an ideal place in which to bring up a child.

Antioch is fortunate in having excellent teachers in both grade and high schools; and it may be added here that the services of a really good, conscientious teacher is priceless, while the inefficient, pay-roller type of instructor should not be tolerated at any price.

There are many parents in Antioch whose only contact with their children's school is the child itself. Perhaps they have never even set foot inside of the school that trains their child.

But teachers can't do it all. A large percentage of efficiency depends upon co-operation on the part of parents. How do you measure up, Mr. Patron? Are you giving Antioch schools the support you should, or are you spending all of your time and effort on things less important than the education of your children?

We need an awakening of public conscience in this community toward our schools. We need a greater co-important factor in community life—the school. It presents some figures that are worthy of study. Equality of opportunity is the right of every child in Antioch, and every adult, whether a parent or not, should be interested in educational matters, for the way our young people are trained determines the citizens they are to be.

A NATIONAL NUISANCE

Quite a lot of crusading has been done with view to doing away with billboards which mar the beauty of our natural scenery, but in spite of some progress made here and there, the billboard is still the outstanding nuisance.

If this nuisance is ever to be successfully abated, it must be done through convincing advertisers that their part in perpetuating it is bad business for them. Appeals to sentiment and love for the beautiful are generally futile.

State, county, and city authorities can aid in the movement materially, however, but is often hard to spur them to action. A recent example of commendable activity in the fight against ugliness is seen in some parts of Georgia, where county officials have ordered the removal of all billboards along the highways in their jurisdiction. The member who sponsored this said:

"There is a proper place for everything, including advertising. Our highways are designed to give tourists the most beautiful scenery possible, but that scenery is being ruined by the ever increasing number of billboards and signs."

Billboards in location which render them offensive are irritating to the public, without benefit to the concerns which pay for them with the mistaken idea that they are building business and good will.

NO LABOR PARTY

President Green of the American Federation of Labor, said, in a recent address, that the workers of United States have no intention of forming a labor party.

This will come as a hard blow to many who have envisioned a socialistic government, to be created by labor. But it is eminently logical. American labor, under our broad two party system, has fared too well to need any party entirely its own.

So long as men are paid high wages for short hours of work, live under good conditions and occupy an enviable position in the social scale, it will be difficult to arouse dissension among American workers. The American wage and living standards have made strikes obsolete in most industries. What disputes arise are settled amicably in a manner fair to all, by boards of arbitration. Capital and Labor are partners in the job of advancing our civilization.

It is a mistake to think of labor as a separate entity, apart from the rest of our citizens. An American labor party would find no place to fill.

MAKING THE NATION SMALLER

Seven transcontinental highways, as part of a road system penetrating every section of the country, would be provided for in a bill which, according to announcement, is to be introduced at the next session of Congress.

Whether or not this project ever becomes a reality, it is indicative of the steadily increasing importance of highways in our development as a nation. State and city and city are bound together by smooth, shining pavements. They are necessities of modern life, an integral part of business and social relations.

The time is near when practically every community, no matter how small or isolated, will have contact with the outside world through the medium of a paved road. To the farmer, as well as the city-dweller, highways are basic commodities which pay for themselves many times over. Good roads have made the United States smaller.

THE COST OF FIRE INSURANCE

Commenting on this subject, F. D. Layton, President of the National Fire Insurance Company of Hartford, Connecticut, said:

"We are faced with the ever-present criticism of the cost of fire insurance. An example was shown at a hearing before one of our legislative bodies. A witness, asked what his fire insurance rate was, replied, 'I don't know, but it is far too high!'

We have a credible record of constantly reducing our average rate over a period of more than 20 years, this in the face of increased cost of nearly everything used by insurance people and the general public. From 1913, the pre-war level, to January 1, 1928, the average annual rate charged for fire insurance on a nation-wide basis decreased about 17 per cent, while the cost of living in general increased more than 60 per cent.

"From an economic standpoint, rates must cover losses, expenses, and necessary reserves, and contemplate a reasonable margin of profit. The public can appreciate the reason for the price of merchandise because it knows the materials, labor and the cost of marketing. It does not understand why insurance rates are necessarily made by boards and bureaus of why the companies must charge approximately the same rates.

"We are indebted to a judge in Western Pennsylvania for a terse explanation of this reason. He said in substance, in handing down a decision, that when a man is buying a barrel of flour he is interested in getting it at the lowest price regardless of the cost of production, because after he has bought the flour and paid for it the transaction is closed. In the case of the purchase of an insurance policy, however, it is vital to the interest of the purchaser that the rate charged be adequate to enable the insurer to maintain the strength of the indemnity provided under the policy for at least the term thereof."

This week's community campaign deals with this written.

If you haven't already been, you shall be called upon soon to contribute a little toward health work through the medium of the Red Cross. There are two important things to be remembered about the splendid work of the Red Cross as a national organization. First of all, it is always right there with relief work at the time of some great disaster; and second, it is ever spreading nursing and other social welfare activities.

This is the season when an intelligent turkey begins to consider his past life, and, if possible, makes amends for the sins of his forefathers.

The wartime display in the Tronson Studio window surely attracted the attention due it. "War is Over" certainly was a welcome streamer.

Nothing can be more exasperating than to find oneself at the typewriter confronted with the task of writing an eagle eye—and then discover that you are bereft of ideas. Usually, when Old Eagle Eye garb is donned, a thousand and one ideas are entertained and joyfully seized upon. You burst all over with the thrill of being able to say something—to criticize another and perhaps tell the town what is wrong with it.

Some of those ideas you convey in your eager way to the readers. You are conscious of the scrutiny your phrasings receive, and then you look back upon your work and decide that perhaps you really haven't said much after all. Immediately you find fault with your ideas and hurl verbal abuse at them, a bit reluctantly at your own efforts, however.

Then maybe some fleeting diversion erases that feeling. You greet the inspiration with happy resolutions and sit down before the typewriter again to write an eagle eye or two. You coax an idea, but it, with the hearty support of its brethren, doesn't believe in returning good for evil. Consequently, it remembers your abusive language, sneers proudly, and torments you by dangling just out of your mind's grasp.

That's why these eagle eyes were

All fried foods should be well drained on paper before serving.

To prevent juices running out of berry pie, add flour, cornstarch, or cracker crumbs to the sugar for sweetening the fruit.

Put a teaspoonful of vinegar or lemon juice in the water when boiling old potatoes. This will keep them from turning dark.

Do not hold your knife and fork in your hands between mouthfuls or make gestures with them.

Linseed oil, turpentine and a Japanese dryer makes a very good oil to use on hardwood floors.

An old shabby kitchen table can be covered with a new enamel top, purchased at department stores at a very low price.

An emergency funnel can be made by opening up an envelope and piercing a small hole in one corner through which to pour the liquid.

The easiest way to fill pepper and salt shakers is to use an apple corer.

A handful of hay placed in a pail of water and the pail allowed to stand in a freshly painted room over night will remove the paint odor.

Hints of Fashion
Noticed Around
Antioch

Street observations are explicitly indicative of the fact that Antioch women have escaped the commonplace when it comes to hats, and they do have confidence in the smartness and correctness of the models which they wear.

Many different styles of hats have been seen during the last few days—those that fit the head snugly to give the sophisticated smoothness of chicness, the brim hats that are so different, the tucked back brims, the tam drapes, the "Dutch Bonnets", the helmet shaped dress hats, the swagger brims, the lustrous satin velvets, and the "Fore and Aft" models—yes, these have all been recently displayed on Main street.

"But I can't bore as you can, Mr. Woodpecker", Saw-whet reminded him.

"Don't take the trouble to make any nest at all", laughed the Cowbird. "Do as I do. Lay your egg in some other bird's nest and let that bird take all the care for you".

"I don't approve of that way—it's stealing", said Little Mrs. Jenny Wren, reproachfully. "I know some very nice boys who have made such convenient little bird houses especially for us. It was very good of them to do it. Mr. Wren and I intend to live in one of these houses. You should try one, Mr. Saw-whet".

"Then try my sand bank", said Mr. Bank-Swallow. "It's a nice firm sand bank and there is such a large colony of us. We could go to work and dig a nest in a little while".

But Little Saw-whet didn't exactly like any of these suggestions.

"What do you advise, Grandfather?", he asked at last as the other birds

SPONSORS ANNUAL
HOMECOMING NOV. 17

The second annual homecoming of Millburn church will be held Nov. 17, at 10:30 o'clock. Flowers will be given to the twelve oldest persons attending and there will be short talks by former residents of Millburn and special music is also being prepared.

The Ladies' Aid society will have a special sewing meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Robert Bonner.

The Christian Endeavor business meeting was held at the home of Ethel and Ralph McGuire last Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark closed their home here last Monday and have gone to Chicago for the winter. John Edwards had his collar bone broken Friday afternoon, while playing football at school.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Everett and daughter, Mavis, Kenosha, spent Sunday at R. J. Bonner's.

Messrs. Robert Bennett and Robert Hansen, Chicago, spent the week-end at C. E. Bonner's.

said good night and flew away. And Grandpa Night Owl answered gravely, "The nests are just like the ones these other birds need. But you are a now. An owl's nest is then the best for you. For ages your ancestors have chosen hollow trees. I think Nature is your best advisor. Do as your father did. Owls have always found their tree nests the best for them. Build in the good old way, then".

"Then try my sand bank", said Mr. Bank-Swallow. "It's a nice firm sand bank and there is such a large colony of us. We could go to work and dig a nest in a little while".

But Little Saw-whet didn't exactly like any of these suggestions.

HOW TO TAKE LIFE

Take it just as though it were—as it is—an earnest, vital and important affair. Take it as though you were born to the task of performing a merry part in it—as though the world had awaited your coming. Take it as though it were a grand opportunity to do and achieve, to carry forward great and good schemes to help and cheer a suffering, weary, it may be heartbroken, brother. Now and then a man stands aside from the crowd, labors, earnestly, steadfastly, confidently, and straightway becomes famous for wisdom, intellect, skill, greatness of some sort. The world wonders, admires, idolizes; and it only illustrates what others may do if they take hold of life with a determined spirit.

—Mark Twain.

When people start buying things that they need, Then Supply wakes up And runs with Demand— Sellers start selling, Makers start making, And earners start earning. Everybody gets busy; Everybody makes money; Money circulates; The business drouth ends That's the way Prosperity comes To everybody. Don't lock the door on Prosperity; Buy what you need So others can buy What you produce.

Spend Hundreds of Dollars
In Vain Search For Relief—New Medicine Scores Triumph

MR. JOHN BOEDEKER

"For years I suffered from indigestion, kidney and gall bladder troubles", said Mr. John Boedecker, 2451 West 67th Street, Chicago, Illinois. "No matter how light my diet, the food remained like a lump in my stomach. I spit up bits of undigested food; pains assailed me after every meal; I was constipated and had dizzy spells and pains across my back. Every night I had to get up several times. Naturally I lost weight and strength.

"I heard about Konjola and decided to try it. What a surprise was in store for me. In two weeks my digestion was restored, my kidneys were functioning as they should and the constipation was relieved. I haven't a sign of an ache or pain and am eating and sleeping as I have not done in years. I read that Konjola is the medicine with more than a million friends. If everyone knew what I do about Konjola it would have a billion friends".

Konjola is sold in Antioch, Illinois, at S. H. Reeves' drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

on motor oil

ENGINEERS have found that 60% of all engine wear occurs in the first three minutes of running!—A hazard which greatly increases in winter.

To assure safety to vital engine parts at the zero hour of starting, Shell engineers have developed an oil with a low pour point—an oil which flows freely in cold weather.

The constantly increasing thousands who use Shell Motor Oil don't have to run the risk of changing to a lighter-bodied oil in winter. They can and do drive with complete confidence that lubrication starts when the engine starts.

Shell crude comes from hand-picked wells in Shell's vast producing fields. The new Shell-developed, low-temperature refining process prepares the crude for use. And before it reaches you, it passes 259 tests which check and certify the rich, unvarying quality of every quart.

That quality assures every essential of a modern motor oil for year-round service: Low Pour Point, Ideal Body at All Operating Temperatures, Low Carbon Content, and Non-Fouling Carbon.

PRIN. PETTY ADDRESSES
ANTIQUES WOMAN'S CLUB

"The Relation of the Woman's club to the School" was the subject discussed by Prin. W. C. Petty at Local Guest day of the Antioch Woman's club held at the grade school Monday.

His message, which he delivered in a forceful and versatile manner, embraced a wealth of suggestive thoughts on the relationship which exists between the mother, child, and the standard moral code which has been adopted for each. Mr. Petty also read Will Duran's "The Woman of the Future". Following his lecture, he distributed copies of moral codes to the club members.

The hostesses were Mmes. Wetzel, Trierer, and Miss Elizabeth Webb.

MISS DODGE WEDS
OHIO MAN

Culminating a college romance which started while the principals were students at Ohio university, Athens, Ohio, Miss Elynore Dodge, formerly of Antioch, and now of Ringwood, Illinois, became the bride of Roy Schafer, of Cincinnati, Ohio, on Saturday at 10:30 o'clock. The ceremony was read by the Rev. Ganser, of the Episcopal church, Waukegan, in the presence of the bride's immediate family and a few close friends, in the beautiful chapel adjoining the church.

Miss Dodge had as her only attendant, Miss Elizabeth Seward, of West Chicago. Both the bride and bridesmaid carried floral muffs of autumn colored chrysanthemums. Ward Abt, Antioch, a college friend of both Mr. and Mrs. Schafer, acted as best man.

Immediately following the ceremony, the wedding party returned to Ringwood, where a four course breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dodge. Wedding bells and chrysanthemums of all colors were used throughout the house for decorations. Following the breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Schafer left on their honeymoon for Cleveland and other Ohio cities, where they will visit the relatives of the groom. They will be at home after December 1, in the Ann Maria apartments, Norwood, Ohio.

Mr. Schafer, who attended Ohio university for four years, is a member of the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and Mrs. Schafer, who took a two year's art course, is a member of the Chi Omega fraternity.

Some of the out-of-town guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Baumgardner, of Detroit, Michigan; Mrs. Fred Gilbert, of Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burns, Oak Park, Mr. and Mrs. George Bacon, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Nelson, of Antioch, and Miss Miss Mildred Rea, of Beloit, Wis.

NEW CROPS IN FLOODED
STATES BRING PROSPERITY

The introduction of new habits of planting, following the Mississippi Valley flood of 1927, has brought added prosperity to farmers in many of the Mississippi Delta counties, according to Red Cross officials.

Almost every cabin has a fine vegetable garden, whereas cotton formerly grew right to the doorstep, the Red Cross states. The home demonstration and agricultural agents have followed up the project inaugurated by the Red Cross, immediately after the flood of 1927, with very great success. There is a large acreage in corn whereas formerly cotton was the one crop. Alfalfa has gained a firm foothold, and the growing of this crop is bringing good financial returns from the three or four cuttings each year. Live stock also is showing improvement due to these new crops.

Everything considered, the Delta sections which escaped a backwater problem in the Spring of 1929 are in a prosperous condition, as a result of the follow-up and rehabilitation by the American Red Cross.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW PLANS FULL PROGRAM

The essential wonders of the rural world and that vast empire of valley and plains of which Chicago is the commercial capital will be vividly on view at the Chicago Stock Yards the last of this month.

Opening on November 30, the first Saturday following Thanksgiving, and continuing throughout the next week until December 7, the International Live Stock Exposition will be a Mecca to thousands from both country and town.

Judging Contests First

According to an advance program issued by the management, a pre-exposition event will be the farm boys' and girls' live stock judging contests on Friday, November 29, the day before the formal opening of the Show. Here selected teams of farm youths from every state will pit their knowledge of livestock in spirited competition.

Saturday, November 30, youth will still be in the spotlight, with the state collegiate live stock judging teams, and the Junior Live Stock Feeding Contest, from which ranks last year's grand-champion steer came, occupying the main program. On this day and throughout the following, scoring of the hundreds of samples of the finest harvests of the world, entered in the International Grain and Hay Show will keep a large staff of crop experts busy.

Monday, December 2, will see the exposition in full stride. The judging rings will be crowded with nominations for the highest honors of the 1929 live stock show season, including Percheron and Shire horses and entries in the fat classes of all breeds. The awarding of championships in the fat classes, always a tensely dramatic occasion, will be on Tuesday, and at the same time judging of the Shorthorn, Hereford, and Aberdeen-Angus cattle classes will begin, and will be continued, along with the other breeds of stock, throughout the week.

Auction Sales Spectacular

For other details of the judging schedule, anyone particularly interested in the time set for one or more breeds of stock, can obtain it by addressing his inquiry to the exposition, says Manager B. H. Heide.

Auction sales of breeding cattle and fat stock will take place throughout the week. They always attract large audiences of interested onlookers in addition to buyers. Thursday and Friday will be the big fat stock sale days, with the grand-champion steer scheduled to go under the gavel at 9 a. m. Thursday, December 5. Last year's champion, owned by a boy, brought $7 a pound and weighed 1,150 pounds. Sales of choice breeding cattle are listed for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday of "International Week".

CALLS ON RED CROSS INCREASE; RESPONSE TO ROLL CALL URGED

Society's Activities Reach Millions
Each Year—Chairman Payne Asks Generous Support in Membership.

Disaster relief work, service to disabled veterans and their families, public health work and its many other activities caused expenditures of $11,064,000 by the American Red Cross for the year ended June 30, 1929, according to the annual report of the organization.

This work by the Red Cross is supported by the annual Roll Call to members, which is held from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28.

Directing attention to the heavy expenditures by the Red Cross during the past year, and to the fact that the organization was called upon for assistance in 120 disasters in the United States and its insular possessions, Judge John Barton Payne, the chairman, said:

"The Red Cross is a volunteer society, supported by its membership and belongs to all of the citizens. While it is a semi-governmental agency in that the President of the United States is its president, and one third of its governing board are representatives of Government departments, yet it receives no financial support from the Government."

"Funds for our work for war veterans and their families, for carrying on disaster relief, for our varied health activities, the life saving and first aid work and our many other activities, all are derived from the membership fee. The public is asked only once each year—at the Annual Roll Call—to join in this support of the Red Cross."

The Red Cross expended an average of $930,000 per year in the past seven years in disaster relief work from its own treasury, statements show. The work for world war veterans also has caused heavy expenditures.

Magnetic Milker Driving "Hired Man" Off the Farm

Application of Machinery to Agriculture Working Many Changes in Farm Life.

JOSEPH HENRY

ous is this milker, which brings the electro-magnetic force into the dairy barn for the first time. The same magnetic force that is being harnessed today for many uses, ranging from the marvelously new pipe organs in which hundreds of electro magnets instantly transmit each finger touch on the keyboard to a note control in a distant pipe, to the gigantic magnetic cranes for picking up and releasing hundreds of tons of steel, is here used to provide the simplest and most effective pulsation control ever devised, to make uniform milking the first essential if cows are to produce to the fullest extent of their possibilities.

Here is what transpires when the new magnetic milker

Joseph Henry was the discoverer of the electro magnet, the principle of which is used in the magnetic milker to secure uniform milking of cows.

The above illustration shows the magnetic milker at work. Cow's udder is shown with teat-cups in place and hose carrying milk to pail of magnetic milker.

RED CROSS HONOR FLAG GOES TO NEW HAMPSHIRE

The honor flag, given annually to the State which enrolls the greatest percentage of its population as member of the American Red Cross, went this year to New Hampshire. The decision was so close between New Hampshire and Vermont that it hung in the balance for a time. California ranked third in the honor list and Connecticut fourth.

A final tabulation of figures of the 1928 Roll Call showed a nation-wide membership of 4,127,946. The banner rests with New Hampshire, where it is hung in the State House, until the 1929 Roll Call—held between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day—is completed and new figures available for the 1929 winner.

Obituary

Mrs. Chrysteen Harrison

Final tribute was paid to the memory of Mrs. Chrysteen Harrison, pioneer resident of Antioch, who died a week ago at her home on Lake street, when a large number of relatives and friends crowded the home Monday.

Mrs. Harrison was born in Lincoln, Courtland County, New York, on March 2, 1843. When about nine years of age, she came with her parents to Hebron, Illinois, where she grew towomanhood. On January 10, 1860, she was married to Charles B. Harrison, and to this union were born three children, two sons and one daughter; they are: Mrs. Maud Story, of Stager, Michigan; Charles Harrison, of Waukegan; and Andrew Harrison, of Antioch, all of whom are left to mourn the departure of their mother. Her husband preceeded her in death on May 3, 1916. In 1868 Mrs. Harrison, with her husband, came to the vicinity of Antioch, where she has lived ever since. She was a devoted wife and a loving mother and will be greatly missed by her sons and daughter, grandchildren, and great grandchildren. The beautiful flowers were testimony of the esteem in which she was held by her neighbors and friends.

Funeral services were held at her home on Monday afternoon, with Rev. Phillip T. Bohi, pastor of the Methodist church, in charge. She was laid to rest in the Hillside cemetery.

Mrs. Walter Atwell

Isabel Sophronia Atwell was born October 18, 1853, at Cannibal, Missouri, where she lived until 1860, at which time the family moved to Quincy, Ill. In 1901, she came to Lake county, where on August 21 of that year she was married to Walter Atwell of Lake Villa, where they made their home.

The deceased leaves to mourn her loss five step-children: Fred, Henry, and Arthur of Lake Villa; William, of Mundelein; and Mrs. Charles Wilson, of Zenda, Wisconsin; seven grandchildren; and a nephew, Albert Jackson, of Minneapolis, Minn.

►There is one kind of printing that you want—printing that pays a dividend on the investment.

►A letterhead with right sort of type properly balanced is a real business asset. It wins the approval of the person receiving your letter, and while he is in this frame of mind your letter is read.

►The same reasoning applies to any other job of printing. Neatness, the right weight and kind of paper, the color of the ink, the selection of the type, all play an important part in the production of dividend printing.

We are equipped to give you that kind of printing. Let us prove it to you.

WILMOT CHURCH MISSION IS A BIG SUCCESS

Vincent Feltis Is Surprised
On Birthday Anniversary
At Ehrlert Home

A well-attended Mission conducted by Rev. August Gearhart, of Milwaukee, was brought to successful conclusion Sunday evening at the Holy Name church with the following visiting clergymen attending the Solemn close: Rev. George Radant, Milwaukee; Rev. Bernard Felsicker, St. Francis; Rev. P. Enrietta, and Rev. Edward Connolly, of Racine; Rev. Joseph Shields, Mary Knoll, New York; Rev. Ambrose Weidekemp, Spring Grove; and Rev. C. Nix, McHenry; Rev. Joseph Brasky is pastor of the Holy Name church. The mission started last Wednesday evening with lectures and benediction each night and two masses and instruction in the morning. Rev. Gearhart is a priest of wide experience having served as Chaplain in the World War, as a prison Chaplain since, and is now conducting the Fenwick home for boys in Milwaukee. His talks were concise, clear and appealing and his suggestions easily grasped by the laymen. Large and appreciative crowds greeted the Missionary Father at all the services.

Seventy-five friends and relatives surprised Vincent Feltis on the occasion of his birthday Thursday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Ehrlert. The evening was spent at cards with awards going to Mrs. Herman Frank and Otto Hanke and consolation to Herman Frank and Mrs. Nick Nett. Refreshments were served at midnight.

Esther Kanis was in Milwaukee for the State Teachers' convention last week, returning to Sharon Sunday.

Mrs. Henry Boulden celebrated her 75th birthday anniversary Sunday with a family reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Boulden and Lorraine, Chicago, were there for the day; Mr. and Mrs. Boulden, Appleton, and Mrs. Larson, Neenah, on Thursday and again on Sunday; and Mr. and Mrs. John Beath and son, Andrew, LaCrosse, arrived Wednesday and left on Saturday. Mr. Beath attended the State Teachers' convention at Milwaukee Thursday and Friday and Mrs. Fred Boulden and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Boulden of Burlington, came on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frank, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Harm and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zarnstorff and family motored to Burlington Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Dorway, Wauconda, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Stoxen.

Honorah McGuire spent the week-end at the McGuire cottage.

Sylvia Dowell, Cambridge, was in Milwaukee Thursday and Friday for State Teachers' convention, coming to Wilmot to spend the week-end with her parents. Iva Dowell was home from Antioch over Sunday.

Mrs. Hollie White gave a birthday party for her little daughter, Irene, on Saturday.

SEVENTEEN AND SEVENTY

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Frank and one of his father's friends were born upon the same day of the same month. Frank is seventeen and Mr. Barton is seventy. There is a considerable difference in their ages and in their points of view.

"How I wish I could live my life over again," we hear people say. "What a thrill it would give me if I could once more be young."

There are great advantages in being young, it is true, but Barton does not envy Frank these prospects and opportunities. He has lived through youth and young manhood and middle age, and now at seventy he is quite contented.

Frank is in high school, he does not know exactly what he wants to do, or, even if he did know, if he would be able to accomplish his desires. His mother thinks he should study medicine, his father would like to have him take up engineering, and if Frank himself has any desires, it is to study international law and foreign language and go to the Orient and be an attache to some foreign diplomat.

He has all sorts of desires and emotions and has not yet learned to control or direct them. He is just now seriously in love, and instead of spending his time in study and work, he wastes it in a welter of worry and uncertainty as to when he can marry and whether or not the girl will wait for him until he finishes his education, and he can get a job sufficiently remunerative to support the two—or more of them. He is restless and often discontented, and uncertain as to what the future holds for him. Youth is not always happy even if it is freed from heavy present responsibilities, and a great uncertain future spreads out before Frank.

With Barton it is quite different. He has been happily married for more than forty years. All the emotional longings of youth have been satisfied or inhibited. He has no future to worry about. The work and the duties and the pleasures of today are all that concern him. He isn't thinking about the sort of job he will get; he has no concern as to whether or not his sweetheart will wait for him or be true to him, for she sits across the table from him three times a day and he knows she will be faithful to him as long as life shall last. He has worked intelligently enough and has practiced economy and exercised judgment and forethought so that his temporal wants will be adequately provided for as long as he may live. Nor does he have any forebodings as to what will happen after life for him has ended as he knows is inevitable before many years. He has faith enough not to be afraid.

Maybe he is wrong, but if given his choice Barton would prefer to be seventy rather than seventeen. The bustle and worry and uncertainty of life is all behind him and for him the best is yet to come.

game is promised.

The Girls' Dramatic and Athletic club association is preparing a three-act play to be given Friday, Dec. 13.

The meeting of the 4-H club which was held last Tuesday evening was well attended. The members plan on getting together once a month during the winter months.

Antioch Football Team Is Defeated By Libertyville

Members of Freshman Class Sponsor Program For Parents

Although they did not succeed in making the highest score, the members of the Antioch Football team feel that they were not defeated in the game played at Libertyville Monday, the result of which was a 13-6 score in favor of Libertyville.

Outside of the first few seconds of play, in which Tramble made a touchdown from the kickoff, Antioch was master of the entire game. The local fellows were fooled in the opening seconds by a backward pass, but as soon as they received the ball on the second kickoff, they marched down the field in a series of line plunges, following which they went over for a touchdown.

This march for a touchdown was pretty much of a surprise to everybody, including the Libertyville players, who had won all of their conference games by rather lop-sided scores and because of two previous losses on the part of Antioch, the game was considered a set up for Libertyville.

Coach Reed's team continued throughout the game to hold the edge on the line play. Libertyville, however, was unable to complete a few passes for long gains, which finally ended in another touchdown for them. Reed was well satisfied with the type of game which his boys exhibited and when considering the inexperience of his players at the beginning of the year, the local coach must be given a lot of credit for teaching them the high type of football that they have shown throughout the season. In all of the games played thus far the Antioch squad was outweighed and was put up against much more experienced players.

The finale of the football season will take place Saturday when the Antioch team goes to Winnetka to play the exceptionally strong North Shore team at the New Trier High school, which should have an easy time playing Antioch, possibly being able to use a large number of second string men in preparation for its next season's games. Reed and his men do not always react on the field according to paper calculations, however. The New Trier officials invited Antioch for this game, because of the reputation that it gained last year in the basketball tournament.

The members of the high school faculty are attending the High School conference being held at the University of Illinois today and tomorrow. One of the features of the Friday evening meet is the All-state orchestra, comprised of selected members from orchestras of various schools of the state. Antioch has the honor of having a representative, John Tellala, in this organization.

The freshmen are sponsoring a program for their parents and friends to be given at the high school Friday night. Admission is free and the class members are assisted by Miss Smith, Miss Schroeder, Miss Rice, Mr. Peterson, and Mr. Reed.

"Captain Applejack" is the name of the play which the seniors have selected for their class dramatic composition, which will be presented on December 9. The cast will be announced later.

THANKSGIVING

Look at that turkey as he struts around!

He all but thinks he owns that ground.

And Oh! he is so big and so very fat.

But Thanksgiving will soon end that.

At the Thanksgiving table of all the things there are to eat,

Grandma's pumpkin pie has them all beat;

Some bakers sure know how to bake,

But Grandma would take the cake.

Mother says that I'm a pig,

But she needn't worry, I'm growing big.

With cake and things that are so sweet,

How can a fellow help but eat.

Donald Andersen.

LAKE VILLA WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS AT HOME OF MRS. FRANK HAMILIN

The Woman's club held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Hamlin last week Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Elsie Poulsen, of Chicago, a representative of the Dirigold corporation, gave a very interesting talk on the "History and Evolution of Tableware", with demonstrations of correct table service. The table was beautiful with a lace cloth and handsome china and glass from the Burley company, Chicago, and silverware from the Dirigold corporation.

The Board of Directors of the Woman's club met with Mrs. Ballenger on Wednesday afternoon.

J. M. Cannon, who spent a few weeks at the Veterans' hospital at Great Lakes, is at home and greatly improved in health.

Miss Laura Reinbach, of Chicago, was a guest of her brother, Carl and family, over Sunday.

Miss Myrtle Daube, who has a position in Waukegan, spent Saturday night and Sunday with her mother and sister here.

Mrs. O. Knudson visited relatives in Waukegan Tuesday.

Carl Seeger of Liedenhurst farm, who underwent a serious operation at the Victory Memorial hospital last week Thursday, is doing as well as possible.

MAKING PEOPLE HAPPY

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

Peder Victorious, in O. E. Ralvagn's novel of that name, is puzzling his little head, as many of us older people have often done, over the purpose of living. I am sure that in our more serious moments the question has often occurred to us of why we are here and what life is all about. There were many mysteries to Peder; emotions stirred within him, strange longings took possession of him, revolt from things as they are disturbed his soul. Making people happy—that was the best thing in the world that anyone could do, he finally concluded. He had found a reason for living and never again did the road seem so rough or so uncertain. He knew now what it was all about.

It is rather a selfish world in which we live, and far be it from me to claim that selfishness is always to be condemned. Self-seeking has resulted often in great accomplishment, great inventions, great progress and reforms. But selfishness seldom brings happiness either to the self-seeker or to his associates. There is a great satisfaction in making other people happy. The happiest people I have ever known are those who have made sacrifices for other people; who have given up what they themselves most wanted in order that they might contribute to the comfort and happiness of others. Peder Victorious was not so far wrong after all. One has not lived in vain, if he devotes himself to making people happy.

Faustin Wirkus, an American lieutenant, was crowned king of the island of Gonave, a little unmapped island of Haiti, so W. R. Seabrook tells us in his Magis Island. There were a number of reasons, perhaps, which led to this exaltation of an inexperienced and rather ordinary citizen, but the chief reason as I read the story was that, despite as he was in fact, and god as the natives sometimes thought him, it was largely because he did his best to make his simple subjects happy that made him really King of Gonave. He rebuilt the base of Jules Narcisse's engine almost with his own hands; he brought in blooded hogs as a substitute for the scrawny stunted razor-backs with which the island was infested; he brought in a new variety of melons; he sent an old peasant woman across the mountains quite against her will to submit to an operation for cataract and brought her back seeing and thinking Wirkus god himself. No wonder they made him King; for he spent his time in making his subjects happy.

The story is told by Sir James Barrie that when the boy's mother was ill because of the death of another son, the doctor said to James: "Try to make your mother laugh; it will do her more good than medicine." He did his best, and when the doctor came back the next day, the boy had a long string of black marks to show how many times he had been successful in making his mother laugh, and all these years since this man, most beloved among play writers and story tellers, has been doing his best to make people happy.

HOWARD AND WIETH
HEADLINE BOXING
CARD AT PALACE

Garlow and Storey to Meet in Semi-Windup Friday Night

Boxing fans are looking forward with much gusto to the meeting between Johnny Howard, Chicago's 160 pound sensation, and Frank Wieth, German champ, who are billed to headline Promoter Dick Macek's all-star card of seven bouts at the Antioch Palace Friday night. The German has been giving fans their money's worth with every appearance in the local ring and they are anxious to see him mix with Howard, reckoned as some scrapper in these parts.

Supporting the feature windup, Angelow Garlow, Kenosha, is matched with Heywood Storey, Chicago, in the semi-windup. The extra good preliminaries include Howard Craft vs. Charley Murray; John Hughes vs. Harold Brown; Paul Liberty vs. John Taylor; Ernie Kratochvil vs. Jimmy Kane; and Dick Thibedeau, Grayslake, vs. Frank Terry, Chicago; the last two are new to the palace arena. They will meet in the first preliminary.

Palace to Close Nov. 22. Jolted by Promoter Macek's announcement this week that the Palace will be closed for amateur boxing after Friday, Nov. 22, for the remainder of this year, boxing fans are expected to scramble for seats for the last two shows. An extra good card is being arranged for the last night, November 22, and the management expects to present one of the feature cards of the year on that night. The Palace will reopen January 1, Mr. Macek stated today.

Last Week's Fight Results

Windup

Karl Ogren, Kenosha, beat Johnny Taylor, Waukegan, in four rounds.

Semi-Windup

Frank Wieth, Germany, beat Gus Brandy, Chicago, in three rounds.

Preliminaries

1—Bob Canbossi, Racine, outslugged Charley Peterson, Racine, in four rounds.

2—Vic Tallmany, Chicago, lost to Fred Lacabee, Chicago, in four rounds.

3—Eddie Gariow, Kenosha, defeated Paul Liberty, St. Paul, Minn., in three rounds.

4—Ernie Kratochvil, Racine, won the decision over Jimmy Kane, Kenosha.

5—Rudy Peterson, Evanston, gained the decision over Joe Stowe, Kenosha, in three rounds.

AID FOR VETERANS IS RED CROSS PLEDGE

Service and Ex-Service Men Are Helped in All Problems.

Service to World War veterans in hospital, for able-bodied veterans, and for dependent families of both called for expenditures of $735,000 by the American Red Cross during the year just ended. In addition, Red Cross Chapters spent $1,963,000 in veteran relief, and also for men still in service.

Although eleven years have passed since the Armistice, there remain 25,500 disabled and sick veterans of the World War in hospitals, and the peak of the number who will require hospitalization is not expected by Veterans Bureau authorities to be reached until 1947. For these men, the Red Cross must continue its service of providing recreation and comforts, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman of the Red Cross.

"Under its Charter from Congress, the Red Cross is required to maintain service for veterans of wars and for the men still in the service," Mr. Fieser said. "The funds for this work come from the annual roll call membership fees. In addition to the sum spent in maintaining contact with the veterans, the Red Cross expended $205,000 in its service to the men still in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps. The society and a majority of its 3,500 chapters handle claims for these men for insurance, compensation and other benefits they are entitled to under the law, and also where necessary arranges to provide for dependents of the men.

"Red Cross workers are maintained in forty-eight Veterans Bureau Hospitals, as well as in all regular Army and Navy hospitals, whose duty it is to supervise recreational facilities for the patients, and to provide small comforts. In the Army and Navy Hospitals, the workers also do social services for the patients. These tasks also are performed at all Army Posts and Navy Ports by Red Cross workers, and in addition Red Cross representatives handle claims as established at the majority of Veterans Bureau regional offices."

Moral: Speaking of "sales" we have something interesting for you this week in a Majestic at $137.50 complete.

ANTIOCH NETTERS
DEFEAT TROJANS
BY 18-21 SCORE

Local Town Team To Play Crystal Lake Here On Monday

is a Prescription for Bilious Fever and Malaria, Colds, Grippe, Flu, Dengue, it is the most speedy remedy known.

Running true to form, the Antioch Netters repeated their victory of last week over the Waukegan Trojans 25-18. They disposed to a good-sized crowd a fine defense and a smooth working offense, with Wilson and Steininger feeding Nixon, who wound up with 17 points. Hughes and Simpson played a wonderful defensive game. Christy played nice ball for the losers, but was over-shadowed by Turner, who held Wilson high scoring forward, without a point. Antioch started fast and ran up a 13-1 lead which was sufficient to last. Then the Netters rushed in subs and held the lead. Near the end, Waukegan hit for long baskets, but couldn't overcome the big lead. Nixon made two baskets each quarter and Hollenbeck made three the last quarter. The lineup is as follows:

Nixon	8	1	17
Wilson	0	0	0
Steininger	1	2	4
Simpson	1	0	2
Hughes	0	0	0
Nelson	1	0	2

The Community Yardstick

Is it a good place in which to bring up a child? That is the acid test applied to any town.

How can we find the answer? By using the community yardstick—which provides a three-way test of the factors that have a direct bearing upon child life in the community. It will take but a few minutes to measure our community with this yardstick and ascertain whether or not this is a good place to bring up children. Here are the acid tests.

1. Do We Give Our Babies a Fair Chance to Live?

GOOD

In order to attain the rating "Good" the infant death rate of a community should not exceed five deaths, during the first year, out of each one hundred babies born alive.

FAIR

Any community in which the infant mortality exceeds seven and one-half deaths during the first year, out of each one hundred babies born alive, would be rated as "Fair."

POOR

This low rating is applied only to communities where the conditions have reached the disgraceful state where there are ten or more deaths of babies, during the first year, out of each one hundred born alive.

The infant of today is the citizen of tomorrow—it is deserving of a fair chance. The safeguard of infant life is the least a community can guarantee. Baby deaths are largely preventable.

Folks, these "acid tests" put the problem squarely up to us. Your ideas will be of interest to others. Let's talk it over. No matter how good our standing, it may be bettered, but only through the co-operation of all in

2. Do Our Children Receive an Education to Fit Them for Life?

GOOD

This rating is secured by communities who have safeguarded their future citizenship by seeing that at least seventy-five out of every one hundred children of school age are attending schools.

FAIR

Whenever only sixty children out of every one hundred children are attending schools the community is given a rating of "Fair."

POOR

This rating is applied to communities where the citizenship has failed in its responsibility to the children to such an extent that less than one-half of the children of school age are attending schools.

What greater handicap can be placed upon a child in its preparation for life, than the lack of an education? Every American boy and girl deserves the chance to go to school.

3. Do Our Incomes Provide the Proper Standard of Living?

GOOD

The rating "Good" may be applied to a community where 90% of the families are enjoying an annual income of more than $2,000 per year.

FAIR

A community where 90% of the families receive an income annually of from $1,800 to $2,000 is entitled to a rating of "Fair."

POOR

This rating is given to communities where a low standard of living is found; where the income of 90% of the families is $1,500 or less.

Every community should seek to provide sufficient incomes for at least ninety per cent of its families so that they may secure the comforts for their children that lead to a healthy and happy childhood and youth.

es to Hospital to Learn beauty Aid

I first time I heard of it, writes Mrs. E. Whitney of 35 Street, Bangor, Maine, "was at the Hospital. I was nervous and run down and my baby daughter was born and began giving me some about ten days I felt like a person. Before then, I was a person. My skin was in very bad shape and I could not understand how to clear it up so quickly.

I left I asked the House Doctor what kind of medicine it was that cleared up my skin and made me feel so much better. He said

'My dear girl, didn't you ever hear of Nujol? Hospitals aren't the only place where you can get it! You can buy it most everywhere!'

'I have been using Nujol ever since, and I think it is wonderful.'

That's the great thing about Nujol. Not a medicine, contains no drugs, can't possibly hurt you, forms no habit—and if you are like most other people its simple natural way of bodily lubrication will do wonders for you, too.

You see, all of us have an excess of body poisons that make our skin

sallow, only able to work at half or quarter our real ability. When Nujol absorbs these poisons and carries them off easily, normally, naturally, we just feel like a million dollars.

Try Nujol for two weeks, and see what happens. It costs only as much as a ticket to a good movie, and it will mean so much to you. In sealed packages at any drug store. Start feeling fine, this very day!

dish. But this rice, good as it is in itself, and later because of its borrowed savor, is as yet only the foundation of the dish, the "table" as the Dutch have it. On it are placed little heaps of choice tid-bits limited in variety only by the genius and imagination of the chef and his master's pocket book.

Feasting is something of an institution among well-to-do Koreans. Once or twice a year the wealthy rice landlords go to Seoul, the capital, and invite small armies of friends and acquaintances to dine with them that their prestige may be heightened in the eyes of their world. Half a dozen or more meats may be served at such a feast—beef, mutton, venison, fowl, fish and oysters. Rice, of course, it tightly so that it will be manageable and retain its heat. It then becomes a breadstick whose spiraled end will melt a bit of butter and furnish a really delectable bite.

Corn contributes to another important Mexican dish, the tamale. The raw corn paste is flattened out as though tortillas were to be made. On the paste is spread a thin layer of minced meat and pepper pods. The two layers are then folded up so that the meat and pepper forms an inner core with a sort of capsule of corn paste about it. Each piece is then wrapped in a corn shuck made pliable by soaking in water. Numbers of these are placed in a tin vessel and cooked by steam, then served piping hot both with fire and pepper.

You see, all of us have an excess

of body poisons that make our skin

sallow, only able to work at half or quarter our real ability. When Nujol absorbs these poisons and carries them off easily, normally, naturally, we just feel like a million dollars.

Try Nujol for two weeks, and see what happens. It costs only as much as a ticket to a good movie, and it will mean so much to you. In sealed packages at any drug store. Start feeling fine, this very day!

Doctor laughed when asked "What cleared my skin?"

I first time I heard of it, writes Mrs. E. Whitney of 35 Street, Bangor, Maine, "was at the Hospital. I was nervous and run down and my baby daughter was born and began giving me some about ten days I felt like a person. Before then, I was a person. My skin was in very bad shape and I could not understand how to clear it up so quickly.

I left I asked the House Doctor what kind of medicine it was that cleared up my skin and made me feel so much better. He said

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips
Milk of Magnesia has acidity completely checked, and the digestive organs all tranquilized. Once you have tried this form of relief you will cease to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it whenever coated tongue or fetid breath signals need of a sweetener. Physicians will tell you that every spoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Get the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same!

"Thanks," said Hugh. "Would it be "Not at all. D'you mind telling us what happened?"

The whole company crowded closer.
"Oh, nothing much," answered Hugh deliberately, "except we had reason to suppose the house had been enter

"Great Scott!" protested Hillyer.
"That's a gol! We've never had any."

AFTER LOOKING UP AND DOWN THE

stalked slowly across, but his face bore a look of evident disgust when

If Baby has COLIC

A cry in the night may be the first warning that Baby has colic. No cause for alarm if Castoria is handy! This pure vegetable preparation brings quick comfort, and can never do the slightest harm. Always keep a bottle in the house. It is the safe and sensible thing when children are ailing. Whether it's the stomach, or the little bowels; colic or constipation; or diarrhea. When tiny tongues are coated, or the breath is bad. Whenever there's need of gentle regulation. Children love the prescription.

taste of Castoria, and its mildness makes it suitable for the tiniest infant, and for frequent use. And a more liberal dose of Castoria is always better for growing children than some needlessly strong medicine meant only for adult use. Genuine Castoria always has Dr. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Prescribed by doctors!

Dining Around the World

©The National Geographic Society

A Feast in Ethiopia

(Prepared by the National Geographic Society, Washington, D. C.)

THE epicure who is willing to blaze startlingly new trails now and then, can have a wonderful time on a gastronomic trip around the world.

Dining in the homes of England and Western Europe, the American attending a feast would find the chief dish a remnant of home. Turkey, duck or goose makes the most popular roast in England, while plum pudding—this time with a generously flavored brandy sauce—usually tops off the meal during cool seasons.

In France and Spain our American explorer of the world's tables would again encounter the turkey but there he would find the canop and the pheasant sharing its popularity. Methods of preparation and side dishes, however, would tell him unmistakably that he was getting farther afield. Truffles, chestnuts and olives are important ingredients of the dressing of fowls in these Latin countries. In France snails might be numbered among the viands that supplement the piece de resistance; and in Spain the meal, starting, say, with almond soup, would be sure to include among the secondary dishes a sopa, rice cooked in olive oil, with tomatoes and other vegetables and perhaps bits of meat.

In northern Africa, whatever the date of the feast, it would be sure to have as its central dish cous-cous. This consists of wheat prepared like fine grains of rice, steamed with lamb or mutton, and vegetables if the latter are obtainable. It is served in a large, almost hemispherical, basket-dish so closely woven that it holds water. About this container the diners sit, taking their food with their fingers. Olives, dates, and figs help to complete the meal; and on occasion there may be a dish of locusts—"grasshoppers"—prepared with wheat. The legs, wings and heads are removed before the creatures are cooked.

Among the Zulus of southern Africa whole oxen or bullocks are roasted at feast time; and in central Africa the feast of feasts is roasted elephant's foot.

In Persia, as throughout all the Near and Central East, mutton holds first place. There the accepted epicurean trick is to cook the meat in pomegranate juice. Rice is cooked in grease, and the two combined form the famous pillau. With the pillau is served the thin, crisp, paperlike bread of Persia.

Raw Meat in Tibet

If one's culinary investigations extend to backward Tibet he finds a strange combination of a barbarism which shows itself in the eating of raw meat—the "higher" and "gambler" the better—and an ingenuity that has evolved concentrated emergency rations. A Tibetan feast might consist of yak meat, strong tea mixed with rancid butter, and parched barley meal moistened with the greasy tea. Evaporated and dried yak's milk, soaked in tea would constitute the Tibetan "dessert course."

In India no important repast would be complete without quantities of rice and curry. It is in Java, however, that rice is raised to its highest status as a food. If he who goes exploring among the foods of the world is a connoisseur he may well pause in Java, devoting days and weeks to exploring the variations—the nuances, one might almost say—of that Dutch-Javan food masterpiece, the rijsttafel (rice table).

Rice is boiled to flaky whiteness and spread evenly on platters, each of which is to serve as an individual dish. But this rice, good as it is in itself, and later because of its borrowed savor, is as yet only the foundation of the dish, the "table" as the Dutch have it. On it are placed little heaps of choice tid-bits limited in variety only by the genius and imagination of the chef and his master's pocket book.

Feasting is something of an institution among well-to-do Koreans. Once or twice a year the wealthy rice landlords go to Seoul, the capital, and invite small armies of friends and acquaintances to dine with them that their prestige may be heightened in the eyes of their world. Half a dozen or more meats may be served at such a feast—beef, mutton, venison, fowls, fish and oysters. Rice, of course, holds an important place on the menu. Seaweed, cooked in oil and served with slices of red pepper; and kim-shie, a kind of sauerkraut, are favorite side dishes. The guests eat their portions from little individual tables.

How They Eat in Japan

In Japan, too, guests at feasts eat from low, small, separate tables, their dishes being served usually in the kitchen. An exceptional feast is likely to be marked by the appearance of the piece de resistance—usually fish—whole before the guests. A favorite food for this sort of treatment is a big baked red snapper. It is placed on a table of its own in the center of a circle of the guest table, and portions are served from it by a servant.

The little tables at a Japanese feast are packed with a varied array of individual dishes. The guest probably will find clear chicken soup, the inevitable covered dish of rice, a slab of raw fish, roast bird, shrimp fritters, fruit, and various pickled greens. He may find, too, the most characteristic of all Japanese edibles, pickled chrysanthemum petals. For dessert he will have rice, cakes and sweetened bean paste, a stiff, jelly-like substance, not unlike Turkish paste.

At Japanese inns the traveler is told that "Bombay duck" can be had at a reasonable price. The hungry customer visions a fat fowl but the waiter brings in pieces of smoked fish about two inches long and as thick as a dime. The menu also includes pickled seaweed, seaweed jelly, and chutney which resembles pickled citrus, but is almost as hot as Mexican chile. More raw than cooked fish is eaten by Japanese. Raw baby octopuses are particularly popular. "Japanese Limburger" is not a cheese but a Japanese pickled daikon, or long white radish.

Traveling still farther eastward on his circumnavigation of the food world, our explorer would still have to pass through the Pacific Islands before completing his journey. Tahiti may be taken as typical of this region. There preparation for a feast means killing the fatted pig. The animal is usually roasted whole with yams and native plantains. Coconut sauce and coconut milk complete the feast, which is served on a huge banana leaf spread on the floor. The guests squat about this green "board" eating with their fingers.

Mexico—Relief on Corn

When Mexico is reached, the traveler finds that corn or maize is the staff of life. But to the American used to his substantial and sizable loaf it is likely to appear a somewhat frail prop. Most of the Mexican corn is not milled into meal or flour. It is laboriously crushed with small stone rollers by hand. In millions of kitchens and dooryards. The crushed grain is then moistened into a stiff paste and cooked on a griddle into what the average visitor from north of the Rio Grande would term a "tough, slabby pancake." These are farritas, the most generally used articles of food in Mexico. They are cooked in the home, in restaurants, over braziers in the market place, or taken cold by laborers in their lunch packets. Nor are they unknown on the tables of the prosperous. Whether food appears in Mexico the tortilla stands well to the fore.

Not only does the tortilla look unappetizing to the outsider; it is sure to prove unappetizing if he follows his first impulse and treats it like a pancake, for it is tough and rather tasteless. But, treated as bread, the tortilla will make a much better impression. The proper trick is to roll it tightly so that it will be manageable and retain its heat. Then it becomes a breadstick whose spiraled end will melt a bit of butter and furnish a really delectable bite.

Corn contributes to another important Mexican dish, the tamales. The raw corn paste is flattened out as though tortillas were to be made. On the paste is spread a thin layer of minced meat and pepper pods. The two layers are then folded up so that the meat and pepper forms an inner core with a sort of capsule of corn paste about it. Each piece is then wrapped in a corn shuck made pliable by soaking in water. Numbers of these are placed in a tin vessel and cooked by steam, then served piping hot both with fire and pepper.

Long-Lived Bushmen

Centenarians are common in South Africa, and unless persons are considerably over one hundred their age is not regarded as extraordinary. A bushman, named Jordan, considered on excellent authority to be between one hundred and twenty and one hundred and thirty years old, claims to be South Africa's oldest inhabitant. He is only 4 feet 6 inches high, and is still very active, has good sight, but is rather deaf. His simple wants are seen to by kindly disposed people, so that the old fellow has no need to draw on his old age pension, which he is banking, he says, for a rainy day.

Heron Made Short Circuit

A farm community near Plymouth, W. Va., was without electricity all one night when a heron perched on a 2,300-volt power line and its tall crane in contact with an adjoining wire. The resulting short circuit put out the lights in the surrounding farm homes.
